

Environmental Health Training Program

Co-sponsored and presented by
SCSU Department of Public Health
& Connecticut Department of Public Health

This Annual Training Program

is a workforce development initiative for certifying sanitarians in Phase 1 Subsurface Sewage Disposal, preparing individuals to take FDA food protection certification training, and introducing environmental health specialists to a broad range of relevant topics.

Dates and Times for This Year

Wednesdays, January 6 – April 21, 2021

Food Protection — January 6 — February 10 — 8:30 AM – 3:00 PM

Subsurface Sewage — February 10 — March 17 — 8:30 AM – 3:00 PM

General Topics — March 24 — April 21 — 9:00 AM – 1:00 PM

Please note: On February 10, times will be adjusted to accommodate both Food and Sewage courses.

Offered online, synchronously

For more information about the course, registration & and payment, please visit <https://inside.southernct.edu/public-health/ehtp>.

Questions? Contact: ehtp@southernct.edu

or

Dr. William Faraclas, Professor

Faraclasw1@southernct.edu | 203-392-6969

This course helps prepare aspiring sanitarians to function in health inspector positions in local health departments in Connecticut.

Food Protection, Sewage Disposal and General Topics segments may be taken separately in different years.